Store hours extend late into the night during the holiday season and many consumers will be walking through parking lots later in the evening. With these new holiday shopping safety tips, TASER Self-Defense and Krav Maga Worldwide aim to equip consumers with tools to be as safe as possible:

Tips to Shop Safely

- Consider where you park – Park in a well-lit area or near the entrance of your location. Snap a picture or make a note of your floor and spot so that there's no confusion when you are returning to your car.
- Stash the cash at home – Pick-pocketers are on the lookout more than normal on Black Friday and you don't want to be an obvious target. Keep cash in a zippered pocket in a hard to reach area of your body or opt to use a credit card if possible.
- Lighten your load – Avoid overloading yourself with packages. It's important to be able to see where you're going. If you must leave packages in your car, lock them in the trunk.
- Stay alert – Be aware of your surroundings and make sure you don't have any unwanted passengers hanging out around your car before heading home.
- Prevent home delivery problems - If you are doing your holiday shopping online, take steps to make sure deliveries don't pile up outside your front door. Unattended packages are easy targets for thieves. If possible, try to schedule deliveries for days and times that you or a neighbor will be home or close by. It's always a good idea to have home security measures in place, like fences or cameras, that can be deterrents to people looking to snatch packages.
- Protect yourself – Purchase a personal safety device and invest time into your safety plan. Attend courses at a certified Krav Maga Worldwide training center to learn practical self-defense in real-world situations. Stun guns or TASER devices can help you feel confident, empowered and protected. These devices can fit inside a purse, bag or backpack and help keep you prepared.

"Krav Maga Worldwide training makes people safer and stronger so that they can feel secure with who they are and walk in peace with dignity, with confidence, and with security," says Krav Maga Worldwide Chief Instructor Darren Levine. "This is a busy time of year, and we want everyone to use practical self-defense knowledge and increase their situational awareness to stay out of harm's way."

"Our company was founded with the mission to protect life," says Mike Rennie, Senior Manager of Consumer Operations, TASER Self-Defense. "We are committed not only to offering effective, easy-to-use personal self-defense products, but also educating consumers on ways to help protect themselves and avoid dangerous situations."

Holiday gift bundle options available now through TASER Self-Defense include:

The Pulse+ Starter Bundle ($499)
